Local News.

A WEEK of literary and social entertainment s setting in at Marietta College: Commencement exercises on the 30th instant.

John Lorron, a lad while at a pic-nic at Parlor Grove, yesterday, fell from a swing and distocated his collar bone.

THE argument on motion to set aside the verdict of the jury in the Cincinnati Street Railroad case, will take place before Judge Hilton, in a faw days.

Two entire days have been consumed in the Court of Common Pleas in the Cook case, in empaneling two jurors-one from this city and one from the rural districts.

Ur to the 6th inst. the sum of $265,069 72, had been expended on the New Lunatic Asylum, at Carthage. It will require about $60,-000 more to complete the building.

JOHN McGRAIL, formerly chainman in the City Civil Engineer's Office, has received the appointment of Penny Post for the South Western District of the city. A good appointment.

MRS. LOUISE MERTON, residing near the Two Mile House, on the River road, had her pocket picked, in market, yesterday, of a porte-monnaie, containing seven dollars.

PETER ZANG, a German, charged with stealing thirty dorlars from a coffee-house on Vine street, over the Canal, will have a hearing before the Police Court next Tuesday.

A LAP named Samuel Hardy was sent to the city prison for ten days, by Judge Lowe, yesterday, on charge of kicking in the windows of a coffee-house on Sixth street.

JOSEPH URBAN, charged with assaulting Catharine Reed with a bar of iron, under very slight provocation, was sentenced by the Police Court yesterday morning, to three days imprisonment in the county jail.

LEVI CRUM was found guilty in the Police Court yesterday, of stealing a double-barreled shot-gun, from a steamer at the landing, and sentenced to the county jail at hard labor for two months.

THE burgiar, Jesse Davis, arrested by officer Hazen, of the Independent Police, a few days since, was before the Police Court, yesterday, and was committed in default of $1,500, to await a trial at the next term of the Court of Common Plans.

MARY OSBORN, one of the fair frail ones, residing within the purlieus of Lodge street, attempted self-destruction, yesterday morning, by swallowing laudanum. The speedy spplication of a stomach pump relieved her of the opiate and saved her life.

A young man named Carter Moore received a fractured leg, on the Mill Creek road, by a horse, which he was riding, becoming frightened at a locomotive and throwing him. He was taken to Dorman's Hotel, in Cumminsville, where his wound was dressed.

A DRAYMAN named Conrad Leutzmann, residing on Vine street, near the Hamilton road, was poisoned, yesterday morning, by taking oxalic acid in mistake for Epsom salts. An antidote was speedily administered, and although he is yet in a precarious condition, there is hopes of his recovery.

WE have the pleasure of announcing to the citizens of our sister city, Covington, that Dr. M. B. Wright, of this city, will deliver a Locture, at Odd Fellow's Hall, on Monday night next, on Intemperance as a disease. The doctor is a pleasant and forcible speaker, and his subject ought to command the careful attention of every good eltizen. We hope to see a good turn out to hear him.

DR. BAILEY .- The Persia brought intelligence of the death of Dr. Builey, editor of the National Era, who died on the Arago on the 5th inst., while en route to Europe for the benefit of his health. Dr. Bailey was born at Mount Holly, N. J., in 1807, but was educated in Philadelphia, where his father removed when he was a child. Receiving the degree of M. D. at the age of twenty-one, he went to Canton as ship surgeon, and returning, took charge at Baltimore of the Methodist Projestant, as editor. In 1836 he assisted Mr. James G. Birney as editor of an Abolition journal in this city. His office was mobbed, his press thrown into the Ohio, and his books and papers were burnt in the street. In 1847 he was selected as editor of the anti-slavery paper at Washington, in which position he continued to the time of his death. The novel of Uncle Tom's Cal in first appeared in his columns.

PHONIX'S FELINE ATTACHMENT.

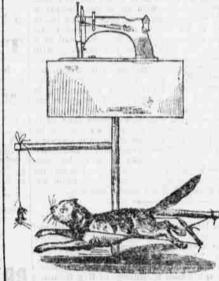

FROM KNIC, MAG., WITH VARIATIONS,

An "Improvement" is a very simple thing, the moment you take your eye and throw it upon the subject, upon which, perhaps, be-fore you had "something thought, but naught intentively." And such, we have no doubt, was the inception of the simple and beautiful invention, mentioned in the "Circular" which we subjoin: The principle is somewhat analogous to that of the "Hen Persuader;" prolonged disappointment being the motive power in each case; the one, however, is "backin each case; the one, however, is "back-action," the other, an accelerated forward movement.

CIRCULAR: TO THE PUBLIC. "Permit me to call your undivided atten-tion to an invention lately made and patented by myself, which is calculated to produce the most beneficial results, and prove of inestima-ble value to mankind. It is well known that the sewing-machines now so generally in use, are the most important invention and greatest blessing of the age. Every lady considers this instrument indispensable to her happiness; it has completely usurped the place of the piano-forte and harp in all well-regulated fam-ities; and she who once purchased materials for clothing by the yard, now procures them by the piece or bolt, to enjoy the rational pleasure of easily making them into garments.

"In the humble cabin of the laborer, and in the halls of the rich and great, now re-sounds, from morning until night, the whir of the sewing-machine. The result of this universal grinding, although eminently grat-ifying to the sellers of dry-goods, and the philanthropic fathers and husbends who dis-charge their bills, has not been of a favorable nature to our ladies in a physical point of view. It is found that the constant use of the crank has brought on rheumatic and neu-ralgic affections in the shoulder, and a similar application of the treddle has a tendoncy to produce hip diseases, and white swelling of the knee joint, accompanied by nervous complaints of a painful character. The uncomplaints of a painful character. The un-dersigned is acquainted with a most estimable single lady of middle age, who, having pro-cured one of the fast running machines, was so enchanted with it, that she persisted in its use for thirty-six hours without cessa-tion, and found, on endeavoring to leave oif, that her right leg had acquired the motion of the treeddle in such a painful manner, that it was impossible to keep it still, and her loco-motion thereafter assumed a species of polka step exceedingly ludicrous to witness, and par-ticularly mortifying to herself. I regret to add that she was compelled, by a vote of the so-ciety, to withdraw from the Methodist Church, on a charge of dancing down the broad aiste on Communion Sunday. A more melancholy in-stance was the case of Mrs. John Smith, of Se-damville, a most amiable lady, beloved and respected by all around her, but who, by constant use of the crank, lost all control of the flexors and extensors of her right arm, and inadvertently punched her husband in the eye, which, he being a man of suspicious and unforgiving dis-position, led to great unhappiness in the fam-ily, and finally resulted in the melancholy case of Smith vs. Smith, so familiar to most of the civilized world. A turn for mechanism, and an intense desire to contribute to the happiness of the female sex, have ever been distinguish-ing traits in my character. On learning these facts, therefore, I devoted myself to a thorough investigation of the subject, and after a month of close application, have at last made an in-vention which will at once do away with every thing objectionable in the use of the sewing-

"This beautiful discovery is now named 'PHŒNIX'S FELINE ATTACHMENT.'

"Like most great inventions, the attachment is of great simplicity. An upright shaft is connected with the machine by a cog-wheel and pinion, and supported below by a suitable frame-work. Two projecting arms are attached to the shaft, to one of which a large cat is connected by a light harness, and from the other a living mouse is suspended by the tail within a few inches of the nose of the motor. As the cat springs toward the mouse, the latter is re-moved, and keeping constantly at the original distance, the machine revolves with great rapidity. The prodigious velocity produced by the rapacity of the cat in its futile endeavors to overtake the mouse, can only be imagined by one who has seen the attachment in full operation. "It is thus that man shows his supremacy over the brute creation, by making even their rapacious instincts subservient to his use.

"Should it be required to arrest the motion of the machine, a handkerchief is thrown over the mouse, and the cat at once pauses, disgusted. "Remove the handkerchief, and again she springs forward with renewed ardor. The writer has seen one cat (a tertoise shell) of so ardent and unwearying disposition, that she made eighteen pairs of men's pantaloons, two dozen shirts, and seven stitched shirts, before she lay down exhausted. It is to be hoped that the ladies throughout the land will avail them-selves of this beautiful discovery, which will entirely supersede the use of the needle, and make the manufacture of clothing and household materials a matter of pleasure to them-selves, and exciting and healthy exercise to their domestic animals. I present above an elevation of the Feline Attachment' in operation, that all may understand its powers, and none fail to procure one, through ignorance of its merits. The Attachment will be furnished to families having sewing machines, on the most reasonable terms, and at the shortest notice. Young and docide cats supplied with the Attachment, by application to John Phonix, Professor, etc.," office of the Patent Back-Action Hen-Persuader."

A MAN AND WOMAN TARRED AND FEATH-The Albany Moraing Times gives the following particulars of a case of tarring and feathering in the village of Kinderhook, last Tuesday night. It appears that in December last a resident of Kinderhook named Sylvester Groat, left his left his wife and children, cloping with a girl left his wife and children, cloping with a girl named Evangeline Folmaby, of Stnyvesant depot. Subsequent developments go to show that Groat returned to his wife and was forgiven, he promising to "reform his conduct altogether." Whether he did or not is not definitely known, until the occurrences of a few days since were made manifest.

Thursday of last week, Groat sent, his wife and four children to Schodack, on a visit. The same day, as was observed by several villagers, he went to Stuyvesant depot (where his inamorata resided,) and it was known to some that he returned to Kinderhook with her, and that the two took ledgings at Groat's house. For a day or two the matter was noised about town, some believing and others discrediting the statement. Finally, on Tuesday night last, a committee was formed and stationed about the house to ascertain the truth or falsity of the story. The result of their espionage was the ascertainment that the guilty parties were oc-cupants of the house, and it was determined to give them such a reception as their conduct deserved.

Accordingly, at a late hour Thursday night a party from Schodack, as is supposed, sur-rounded Groat's house and demanded admittance. Receiving no reply to their demands, the door was forced open, and the guilty pair were discovered enjoying the same couch. Groat was forcibly taken from the house in his night-clothes, into the open air, when the party decided to return for his partner in sin. But upon again entering the room she was not to be found, until a thorough search of the room was made, when she was discovered in her night-clothes, snugly stowed away under the

Deprived of all ceremonious forms, the unfortunate woman was seized and taken out into the yard with tiroat. Here a coat of tar and feathers was applied to each. The body of Groat was completely saturated with the "sticky" preparation, a quantity being pomed over his head. The woman was more humanely treated, being covered with it only from the shoulders downwards. Next a coat of tar and feathers was applied, and the two "subjects" placed in a wagon, were drawn about the vilage, amid the derisive shouts of the people lage, amid the derisive shouts of the people, who were attracted to the spot by the unearthly noise proceeding from the pans, dinner-horns, etc. After traversing the principal streets, the unfortunate pair, some everything but tar and feathers, was permitted to forego further display. They at once repaired to the house of Groat, where from subsequent developments it was ascertained that they proceeded to relieve their bodies of the uncoveted covering given them. The next day both walked to the depot, and took the train coming to this city. It is mentioned to us that both man and woman have highly respectable paman and woman have highly respectable pa-rents living, who are truly pained to know the consequences of this infatuation. It is sup-posed that Groat and his intemorate are yet in

We ask the good "law-and-order" people of Kinderhook to picture to their mind's eye, Christ and the Apostles tar and feathering a woman-even one caught in the act. O, ye hypocrites! If you had been true to yourselves ye would not have cast the first stone!

The advice is unsound, as well as impracticable, which recommends that our time be always occupied with some industrious, or at least specific parsuit. After laborious mental efforts, the attention should be diverted to the lightest subjects possible; and as a general rule, it is bust to leave the intellect free to its own operations, and the entrance of casual reflections. Hobbes attributed his superiority to the moderation of his reading, affirming that if he had read as much as the philosophers, he should have been as ignorant. The fact is, he read less than he meditated. This, the great secret of all vigorous, creative thought, is a prime requisite in constructing the durable monuments of genius .- Olulow.

Mr. John Scarbrough, a gentleman known to some of our citizens as being perfectly relia-ble, arrived in this city on the steamer D. A. January, Friday evening, just from the miner having made the entire trip by water, in the almost incredible short space of time of only fourteen days! Mr. Scarbrough states that the recent reports of the large amounts being made in the Gregory diggings, have been very much exaggerated. He knew of one compan who were making, with a sluice, as much a-$10 per day to the man; but there were hun-dreds of others who were not making board.—

St. Joseph Journal of 20th. The labors of the Mount Vernon Association are nearly closed, as we learn by a dispatch from our Washington Correspondent. The en-tire amount necessary for the purchase of the property has already been subscribed, and only thirty thousand dollars still remain unpaid but it is understood that the subscription list will not be closed until a sufficient sum shall be secured to prosecute the necessary improvements upon the property, which is now in the most neglected condition.

In New York, on the 23d, Thomas and Charles Mackey, the former 10 years old, and the latter only 6 years of age, got to quarrel-ling at or near the residence of their mother, 88 Washington street, near York, about an excursion ticket. A fight grow up, when they were soon surrounded by a group of little boys. Du-ring the fight, Charles, the youngest, stabbed his elder brother with a pen-knife, inflicting a wound which proved fatal.

The New Orleans Crescent says: The columns of about four-fifths of the one hundred or se exchange papers which daily reach us, present the same weary monotony of war intelligence—the same thing in each in continual repetition. The subject is thoroughly written to places-written over, up and down, around about, and in every conceivable manner and

A man in Alabama slid from a hay mos A man in Alabama slid from a hay mow and struck upon a pitchfork, whereby he re-ceived a most dangerous wound. The physi-cian not only dressed the wound, but also applied medicinal preparations to the pitchfork, and had it carefully wrapped up and deposited in flaunci, to aid in healing the injury by what is called "sympathetic action."

A gentleman rode up to a public house in the country, and asked, "Who is the master of this house?" "I am, sir," replied the landlord: "my wife has been dead about three weeks." Wise men mingle mirth with their cares, as hold either to forget or overcome them. It is well to be able to do so-most people say they can't afford it. Excuse me, madam, but I would like to ask why you look at me so very savagely? Oh, beg pardon, sir-I took you for my husband! A boy was asked what meekness was? He thought a moment, and said: Meckness gives smooth answers to rough questions.

This is what they call a fellow-feeling for a man, said a loafer, as a watchman was groping for him in the dark. To resort to intoxication for the ease of one's mind, is to cure melancholy by madness. Is it not moral suicide? Keep out of bad company, for the chance is, that when the devil fires into a flock, he will hit somebody.

In private, we must watch our thoughts; in the family, our tempers; in company, our tongues.
